[.]tell which was Monnie and which was Tup as they tumbled in the snow together. Pretty soon Monnie picked herself up and shook off the snow. Then Tup shook himself, too. Menie was rolling over and over down the slope in front of the little stone house. His head was between his knees and his hands held his ankles, so he rolled just like a ball. Nip was running round and round him and barking with all his might. They made strange shadows on the snow in the moonlight. Monnie called to Menie. Menie straightened himself out at the bottom of the slope, picked himself up and ran back to her. What shall we play? said Monnie. Let s get Koko, and go to the Big Rock and slide downhill, said Menie. All right, said Monnie. You run and get your sled. Menie had a little sled which his father had made for him out of driftwood. No other boy in the village had one. Menie s father had searched the beach for many miles to find...
